

Esri Philadelphia is pleased to announce the delivery of two free seminars focusing on using ArcGIS for Land Records. We have scheduled the first seminar for South Jersey users and invite you to attend, hosted at Burlington County College on August 25th at 9 a.m. The location/time for the North Jersey seminar is TBD with more details to come as they are confirmed. The Land Records seminar is important because it further demonstrates the value of ArcGIS for Local Governments. This half-day seminar will show you the available tools, templates, maps & apps on the ArcGIS Resource Center and how you can use ArcGIS for Land Records Management. We will discuss a variety of topics including:

- New core tools to manage and edit tax parcels
- The importance of parcel fabric & integrating tax and deed records into the parcel layer
- A review of editing and data quality workflows
- Walk through of applicable user scenarios

The seminar will also show live ArcGIS demonstrations on maps and apps for local government (Land Value Analysis, Tax Parcel Viewer and Public Notification apps), tax parcel map editing, tax parcel map book production and using the ArcGIS resource center. Coffee and breakfast snacks will be provided, registration is required and will be capped.

Date: August 25th
